Albert Speer Architecture 1932 1942

Speer, Adolf Hitler's architect of choice, happens to be responsible for one of the boldest architectural and urban oeuvres of modern times. First published in 1985 to an acute and critical reception, Albert Speer: Architecture 1932-1942 is a lucid, wide-ranging study of an important neoclassical architect. Yet is is simultaneously much more: a philosophical rumination on art and politics, good and evil.

Albert Speer: Architecture 1932-1942 by Leon Krier

Léon Krier's Albert Speer: Architecture 1932-1942 is an elaborate concoction, lavishly produced, a pastiche of materials published at different times and in different places. It contains the collection of images of Albert Speer's buildings and projects that Speer himself published in Germany in 1978; photographs of Speer buildings from other sources; a "facsimile" of an earlier book of 1985 by Léon Krier with the same title, published in Brussels in French and English; sections from ...
